

METHODS AND APPARATUS FOR ATRIOVENTRICULAR VALVE REPAIR

Abstract of the Disclosure

Methods and devices are disclosed for minimally invasive procedures in the heart. In one application, a catheter is advanced from the left atrium through the mitral valve and along the left ventricular outflow tract to orient and stabilize the catheter and enable a procedure such as a “bow tie” repair of the mitral valve. Right heart procedures are also disclosed.

H:\DOCS\GVH\GVH-5501.DOC:rc/jt1
062603